Suggested resources available from FPSPI

New: Into the Future: A Kid's Guide to Scenario Writing (very engaging instructional guide for students; a great resource for coaches, too!)

FPSPI Scenario Writing Handbook (new version)

Scenario Writing Champions (winning International scenarios, available by division)

For order/shipping information, see Scenario materials from the FPSPI Mart

The Handbook includes: an in-depth explanation of scenario writing (and scenario performance); chapters on preparing to write a scenario, writing a scenario, and the mechanics of a scenario; feedback and evaluation information; activities relating to scenario writing; and numerous examples from student scenarios. The Kid's Guide is a step-by-step guide through the writing process, from planning to writing a complete scenario, and includes an exemplar in each division from past FPSP International Scenario Writing champions.

The Readings, Research, and Resources publication (RRR) with an overview of each topic, topic vocabulary, and summaries of topic articles may also be helpful. Contact the FPSP International Office (mail@fpspi.org; 321 768-0074) for information about purchasing this resource in separate chapters by topic.

Important Date

- The submission deadline for scenarios is January 14, 2022.
- All student entries in the Scenario Writing competition must be submitted to argenhicks@gmail.com by that date.

The three highest-scoring scenarios in each division will be announced in late February and may advance to the International Scenario Writing Competition (depending on the quality of the story). First, second, and third place ranks are announced at the Georgia FPSP State Bowl in March. The first place writer in each division is invited to the FPSPI 2022 International Conference June 8 – 12, 2022, at the University of Massachusetts – Amherst, in Amherst, Massachusetts. (Hopefully, some sort of in-person IC can be held in June, 2022.)

Feedback and Evaluation

Trained evaluators provide written feedback to each scenario writer and determine the top scenarios in each division.
